Can you think of a time when you used self-care?

Activities

Self-care is about looking after yourself. Here are some things below that you can do to look after your body and your mind.

- Close your eyes and think about the happiest day of your life so far. What happened? Use your senses to try and see, hear, feel, smell and taste what happened. How calm and relaxed do you feel right now?
- Pretend you are blowing bubbles into the air. Purse your lips and blow slowly and steadily. Watch the bubbles float into the air. Keep watching until they pop. Take a breath in again and repeat with blowing those bubbles.

Do some exercise to get your heart beating faster. Notice your heart speeding up and then slowing down when you rest again. You can get an adult to show you how to take your pulse and count your heartbeats.
